Update on Fluorochemicals Business

Mr. DeSimone reported a brief summary of the initiatives to date regarding the fluorochemicals business.

Mr. Kiester reported on ongoing discussions with the Environmental Protection Agency, the Food and Drug Administration, and the Consumer Products Safety Commission. He reported the preparedness of personnel to deal with publicity regarding the presence of trace amounts of chemicals in blood samples from the general population, linked with the Company's perfluorooctanyl chemistry. He reiterated that there continues to be no evidence, resulting from ongoing testing and monitoring, of any human health hazards.

Mr. DeSimone reviewed the efforts of senior management in assessing viable options in dealing with reactions from publicity and/or further regulatory actions. He outlined a possible phase-out of the production of products incorporating perfluorooctanyl chemistry and the potential impact upon the operations and general reputation of the Company.

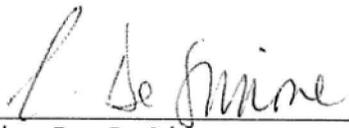

Mr. DeSimone requested and received an informal indication of support for a possible phase-out, with the details to be worked out by senior management in the near future. The Board requested that it be informed of the outcome of further discussions with the regulatory agencies.
